

VACCINES ARE DANGEROUS

Unavoidably Unsafe

Vaccines are currently classified by American tort law as “unavoidably unsafe” due to the injuries and deaths resulting from their unavoidable side effects. See, United States Supreme Court ruling in Bruesewitz v. Wyeth LLC, 562 U.S. 223, 254-55, 131 S. Ct. 1068, 1089 (2011):

“The 1986 Report expressly adopts comment k of § 402A of the Restatement of Torts (Second) (1963-1964) (hereinafter Restatement), which provides that “unavoidably unsafe” products--i.e., those that ‘in the present state of human knowledge, are quite incapable of being made safe for their intended and ordinary use’--are not defective. As ‘[a]n outstanding example’ of an ‘[u]navoidably unsafe’ product, comment k cites ‘the vaccine for the Pasteur treatment of rabies, which not uncommonly leads to very serious and damaging consequences when it is injected’; ‘[s]ince the disease itself invariably leads to a dreadful death, both the marketing and the use of the vaccine are fully justified, notwithstanding the unavoidable high degree of risk which they involve.’ Id., at 353. Comment k thus provides that ‘seller[s]’ of ‘[u]navoidably unsafe’ products are ‘not to be held to strict liability’ provided that such products ‘are properly prepared and marketed, and proper warning is given.’”

The correct synonym for “unsafe” is “dangerous”.

Merriam Webster Dictionary (2020). <https://www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/unsafe> (“Synonyms for unsafe: dangerous, grave, grievous, hazardous, jeopardizing, menacing, parlous, perilous, risky, serious, threatening, unhealthy, venturesome”).

“Dangerous: 1: involving possible injury, pain, harm, or loss : characterized by danger, 2: able or likely to inflict injury or harm”

Merriam Webster Dictionary (2020). <https://www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/dangerous>

Dangerous vaccines are kept on the market and shielded from liability because in 1986, Congress passed special interest legislation favoring the international pharmaceutical industry.

Vaccines Contain Neurotoxins

Vaccines include legally classified neurotoxins in amounts that have never been proven safe. Vaccines are experimental because they have never followed the scientific method for testing with true placebos or a control group of entirely unvaccinated individuals.

All Vaccines Are Experimental

Vaccine regulatory approvals are supported by:

- | Fake placebos (so-called “placebos” that contain neurotoxins),
- | Fake controls (so-called “controls” of people who are also vaccinated),
- | Short-term testing windows (so-called “tests” with monitoring periods as short as 3-days), and
- | Long-term passive surveillance of vaccine injuries (so-called “surveillance” with an unknown to approximately 99% failure rate of reporting).

In this manner, vaccine science has not even evolved enough to recognize the basic dictionary definition of words, let alone become advanced enough to reach the status of “settled science”.

- | Very common $\geq 1/10$ ($\geq 10\%$)
- | Common $\geq 1/100$ and $< 1/10$ ($\geq 1\%$ and $< 10\%$)
- | Uncommon $\geq 1/1000$ and $< 1/100$ ($\geq 0.1\%$ and $< 1\%$)
- | Rare $\geq 1/10,000$ and $< 1/1000$ ($\geq 0.01\%$ and $< 0.1\%$)

The International Pharmaceutical Industry Is Corrupt and Untrustworthy

The international pharmaceutical industry that produces vaccines has a long-history of scientific corruption and conflicts of interest. It is a trillion dollar industry that uses aborted babies to manufacture certain vaccines, adds known neurotoxins such as aluminum and mercury to vaccines, specifically engineers newer vaccines to manipulate human DNA, and then summarily labels every single one of their finished products “safe”, without any mathematical proof that would comply with the scientific method.

HEALTH CRISIS IN AMERICA

High Infant Mortality

Notwithstanding that the United States spends more on healthcare than any country in the world, American children have poorer outcomes and are less likely to survive their first year of life than children born in many other high-income nations.

On their first day of birth, American infants have the highest mortality rate of any industrialized nation in the world. Even when premature births are excluded, more apparently healthy American babies die in infancy of sudden and unexplained causes than infants in other wealthy countries.

MacDorman et al. (2014). International comparisons of infant mortality and related factors: United States and Europe, 2010. National Vital Statistics Reports 63(5):1-6. https://www.cdc.gov/nchs/data/nvsr/nvsr63/nvsr63_05.pdf

Pandemic of Chronic Diseases

In recent decades, American children have experienced a decline in once common childhood infections, such as measles, whooping cough and chickenpox. At the same time, a growing number of children have begun suffering from a wide range of non-communicable, serious and often incurable illnesses, including neurodevelopmental disorders such as autism and learning disabilities, mental illnesses such as anxiety and obsessive compulsive disorder, and an array of immune-mediated diseases such as asthma and autoimmune diseases. These once rare pediatric anomalies now afflict American children in pandemic proportions.

A 2011 Health Affairs assessment estimated that 43 percent (32 million) of American children currently suffer from at least one of twenty chronic health conditions, which increases to more than half (54.1 percent) when overweight, obesity or being at risk for developmental delays are included. Nearly one-fifth (14.2 million) of children have conditions resulting in a special health care need.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that more than a quarter (27 percent) of American children have a chronic condition and one in fifteen are burdened with multiple chronic conditions.

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Multiple Chronic Conditions Among Outpatient Pediatric Patients, Southeastern Michigan, 2008–2013. BRIEF, Vol. 12, 2015. https://www.cdc.gov/pcd/issues/2015/14_0397.htm

It was reported in The Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) that chronic illnesses in children doubled from 12.8 to 26.6 percent between 1994 and 2006, with low-income, racial and ethnic minority children being disproportionately affected in an epidemic that has continued to grow.

Van Cleave et al. (2010). Dynamics of Obesity and Chronic Health Conditions among Children and Youth. JAMA 303(7):623–630. <https://doi.org/10.1001/jama.2010.104>,

Compared to children two generations ago (in the 1960s), as reported in Health Affairs, American children are now more than four times more likely to be burdened with a health condition so severe that it affects their usual daily activities.

Perrin et al. (2014). The rise in chronic conditions among infants, children, and youth can be met with continued health system innovations. Health Affairs 33(12):2099-2105. <https://doi.org/10.1377/hltha.2014.0832>

A 2018 Pediatrics study reported that one-fifth of American children and adolescents regularly use prescription medication and 12% of boys aged six to 12 years are prescribed more than one drug.

Much of this disease burden has come from neurodevelopmental disorders, mental illness, and immune-mediated conditions.

Neurodevelopmental Disorders

The profound neurodevelopmental disorder called Autism Spectrum Disorder, virtually non-existent less than a century ago, has increased to one in 54 in children aged 8 years in 2016.

In addition, the CDC reports that today more than seven million American children have been diagnosed with attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), including 388,000 children aged just two to five years old.

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Data and Statistics about ADHD. <https://www.cdc.gov/ncbddd/adhd/data.html>

“The root causes of the present global pandemic of neurodevelopmental disorders are only partly understood,” according to a review in Lancet Neurology, which points to a significant role for environmental toxins in its causation. “Although genetic factors have a role, they cannot explain recent increases in reported prevalence, and none of the genes discovered so far seem to be responsible for more than a small proportion of cases.”

Grandjean & Landrigan (2014). Neurobehavioural effects of developmental toxicity. Lancet Neurology 13(3):330–338. https://doi.org/10.1016/S1474-4422\(13\)70278-370278-3)

HEALTH CRISIS IN AMERICA

Immune-Mediated Disorders

Immune-mediated disorders — those involving immune activation — have soared among American children in recent decades; allergies, asthma and autoimmune diseases are all inexplicably on a sharp upward trajectory.

Asthma is the most common chronic disease of childhood and, in the latter part of the 20th century, has reached epidemic proportions and continues to increase. According to the CDC, asthma affects 25 million people, including six million children under 18 and is a “significant health and economic burden to patients, their families, and society.”

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Most Recent National Asthma Data. https://www.cdc.gov/asthma/most_recent_national_asthma_data.htm

According to the Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America, more than 50 million Americans are affected by allergies.

Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America, Allergy Facts and Figures. <https://www.aafa.org/allergy-facts/>

This includes millions of American children with reported allergic rhinitis (5.2 million), respiratory allergies (7.1 million), food allergies (4.8 million) and skin allergies (9.2 million), in 2018.

Autoimmune diseases, of which there are at least 80 distinct conditions, occur as a result of the immune system attacking the body's own tissues and organs. Some of the more common autoimmune conditions include type 1 diabetes, rheumatoid arthritis, systemic lupus erythematosus and inflammatory bowel disease. Taken together, these conditions, once so rare they were virtually unheard of, have increased from year to year for mostly unknown reasons and are now, "as a group afflict 5%–9% of the U.S. population," according to a report in International Journal of Molecular Sciences.

Pediatric Cancer

According to American Cancer Society, childhood cancer rates have been rising for the past few decades.

HEALTH CRISIS IN AMERICA

National Crisis

The People of the United States of America, and particularly the Nation's children, are suffering from an unprecedented pandemic of chronic diseases. More American children are sick today than in any previous generation. They are suffering from a wide range of conditions: from asthma and autoimmune diseases to neurodevelopmental and mental health disorders that are increasingly known to be associated with an underlying dysregulated immune activation. The fallout from this health emergency is an economic, healthcare and national security crisis for the Nation.

The epidemic of childhood illness is straining the Nation, imposing an enormous and growing burden on individuals, families and society. Chronically ill children become chronically ill adults.

According to the CDC, chronic disease and mental illness account for most American deaths, consume 90% of the Nation's $3.5 trillion in annual health care expenditures and are projected to account for more than $42 trillion in spending by 2030.

National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Health and Economic Costs of Chronic Diseases. <https://www.cdc.gov/chronicdisease/about/costs/index.htm#ref1>

The burden of illness is straining America's school system as well, which is struggling to accommodate the demands of the growing population of students with special needs.

The health crisis of America's youth is a national security crisis as well; nearly a third (32 percent) of all young people have health problems – other than their weight – that prevent them from military service.

Communist Chinese Vaccines Infiltrate the United States (cont'd)

Since the inception of the 1986 National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program, the pharmaceutical industry started to offshore the manufacturing of vaccines. It did so to meet the growing demand in producing hundreds of millions of doses each year for the United States vaccination schedule that had quadrupled in size and scope. First, the vaccine makers harvested active pharmaceutical ingredients from Asia (primarily Communist China); then outsourced research and development. Over the past decade, the world's top five vaccine manufacturers built plants in Communist China.

Communist Chinese Vaccine Scandals Are Commonplace

“Health authorities in China are investigating one of the nation’s biggest vaccine makers after eight infants died in the past two months following injections that were meant to immunize them against hepatitis B...”

“Six of the deaths have been linked to vaccines produced by Shenzhen Kangtai; the two other infant deaths occurred recently after the use of a hepatitis B vaccine produced by another drug maker, Beijing Tiantan Biological Products...”

“Merck gave the company the biological technology to produce a hepatitis B vaccine royalty free as part of an unusual joint venture aimed at improving health standards in China.”

Coincidences? Globalists Orchestrate and Infiltrate US Response To Covid-19

COINCIDENCE?

In the offshore entity Global Preparedness Monitoring Board ("GPMB"), Drs. Anthony Fauci and Victor Dzau convene to make policy, recommendations, share potential intelligence and intellectual property with not only the Chinese CDC, but also unelected officials at global health foundations. In that boardroom, the head of the Chinese Communist Party's director-general of China's CDC sits across the planning table from the director of the U.S. National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Disease.
